It seems that our Home Relief Societies were doing the job of attending to their own business too well and somebody in the last legislature conceived the brilliant idea of wrapping a lot of red-tape about them. It was to keep this from getting tangled up that some of the party made the trip, and everything will soon be adjusted to conform to the law—useless and medlesome as the law may be.

the parade and according to reports won second prize for cars of that class.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Oklahoma

M. E. GARBNER, EDITOR OF THE MADISON (IND.) COUR-IER, SAYS:

THAT the greatest blessings to mankind have come through communication and that the most important of all these is the art of printing and the newspaper. As important as are roads and railroads, they would sink to a fraction of their present position in the lives of man if the newspaper did not tell the people what is to be seen at the other end of them and thus augment the great streams of traffic that flow from one end of this great nation to the other.
And the newspaper is the greatest means of communication which we have. Through it the church, the school, the store, the factory spread information of their various works and create desire for them.

Newspapers have made churches great, have made the schools popular institutions, have produced merchant princes and captains of industry and thus made the United States the greatest, richest, happiest nation that the sun ever smiled upon.

THE GREATEST ASSET OF ANY COMMUNITY IS A NEWS-PAPER THAT REACHES OUT TO ALL CORNERS AND AF-FORDS A QUICK AND ECONOMICAL MEANS OF COMMUNICA-TION.

THE ANVIL HERALD DOES THAT; YOU LOSE WHEN YOU DO NOT USE IT.

Injuries of Three Backfield Players
Make that Section Weak;
Rucker at End

Several changes have been made in the Hondo team by the Coaches.
Rucker has been placed at end because of his favorable showing at that position in the game with Del Rio. Both Murray and Mechler will start against the place of Jack Mask, who is injured. The change made bring the team average up to 146 pounds to compare with Cotulla's 158.

The following men are on the injured list and probably will not see action against Cotulla: Haegelin and Fusselman, halfbacks; Jones, fullback; Speece and Mask, guards.

WINDROW—NESTER.

A wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends occurred here Monday afternoon at the Lutheran parsonage, when Miss Laura Nester became the bride of Mr. Henry Zack Windrow.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Nester, was becomingly gowned in brown satin with accessories to match.

On account of the recent bereavement in the groom's family the wedding was a quiet one with only the parents of the contracting parties in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Windrow left immediately after the ceremony for a bridal trip to Galveston. On their return they will be at home to their friends, whom they number by their acquaintances, in the pretty new bungalow on Carle Ave.

MUENNINK—DUBOSE.

Mr. August F. Muennink, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Muennink of Hondo, and Miss Mae Dubose, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E.
Dubose of Moore, Texas, were united in marriage Monday, September 30, by Rev. Albert Nelson, local Baptist Pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Muennink left immediately after the ceremony for Refugio, Texas, where Mr. Muennink has employment in one of the oil fields.

The happy couple have many friends in this section and these unite in wishing them a happy and successful married life.

HONDO DEFEATED 58 TO 0 BY CLASSY DEL RIO TEAM IN FIRST DISTRICT GAME

Leinweber, Mechler, Fusselman and Pettis Played Well Against Experienced Opponents

By Kooter MacGrail

Unable to withstand the drives of the experienced and heavier Del Rio Wildcats the Hondo Owls were defeated last Saturday in their first district game 58 to 0. The Hondo team was unable to match the classy performance of Coach Anthony's boys, some of whom are playing their fourth year of football. The Wildcats took advantage of every break of the game and never ceased in their drive for more points. In the first quarter they averaged a touchdown every three minutes. As usual, the Hondo team did not start to fight until the second half.

The Hondo starting line-up was changed slightly due to Jones being unable to play. Coach Barry started Leinweber at fullback and Finger as left halfback along with Fusselman who turned in a good game, and Windrow in the backfield. Jones is out with a sore hip and smashed thumb received in practice.

The game was not a total failure for the Hondo team as it developed two players for the Owls. In the backfield, Leinweber proved himself to be a line plunging fullback, the answer to many a coach's prayer.
Fritz, although unable to get away for a long run, made life miserable for the Wildcats with his driving lunges at the line. Leinweber showed good form, running low and using the stiff arm effectively on several occasions. Mechler was the find on the line. Hondo's heaviest man seemed to have found himself and deit miserly out to the Wildcats on his side of the line while in the game.
Edgar broke through to block one of De La Fuente's dropkicks. He also showed that he was playing heads-up football by taking a Del Rio kickoff and running it back 11 yards. Jack Fusselman, until the Del Rio game an end, proved himself a capable man to backup a line. Pettis, langy end, came in for a share of honor by completing three of Hondo's passes. Leo shook off two tacklers on as many occasions but was downed before getting clear of the third. Droitcourt managed to block two of Del Rio's dropkicks.

Hondo suffered several injuries from the game. Most severe of the ones hurt was Jack Mask. Mask cracked his left arm in two places and will be out inditantly. Fusselman will be out of the game with Cotulla.

USED CARS

Our policy in selling used cars is just what you would hope

WHEN you buy a car which has passed from the hands of its first owner, you would like to be sure of two things. First—you want to know, of course, that the used car you buy has a generous amount of unused mileage in it. Second—you hope you are not being charged for an excessive trade-in allowance which the dealer may have made in order to sell a new car. In short, that you are paying just what the used car is worth.

The Ford dealer's policy in selling used cars is exactly what you would hope to find. For instance, when we sell a Model T Ford which has been traded in for a Model A, that used car has been thoroughly and carefully reconditioned. With it goes a guarantee. When we sell used cars of other makes (and we have many kinds traded in for Model A Fords) we tell you frankly what you may expect, and the price is based on the amount of mileage we think you'll get from that car.

Regarding the price of the used cars we offer, you can be certain there has been no inflation to care for excessive trade-in allowances. The new Ford car is priced right—so close to the cost of production and selling that there is no margin, or leeway, for unreasonable trade-in concessions.

For these reasons it is worth your while to come to us when you are thinking of buying a used car. Nearly always we have a generous selection. Come in today and look over the following bargains in unused mileage:

CAL BUICK DEALER TO HOLD USED CAR SCHOOL.

Starting Saturday, October 12, and ending through Saturday, October 19, C. R. Gaines & Son, local Buick dealers, will hold a "Used Car Buyers' School," one of the most unique automotive events ever staged in South Texas.

A special used car display has been arranged for this period and C. R. Gaines & Son claim they will be able to show that it is possible to reconstruct used cars so thoroughly that their performance and appearance will be compared favorably with new cars. Salesmen and mechanics will explain how the "rejuvenating" work is done.

Every visitor to C. R. Gaines & Son will be given a "used car yardstick" and will be instructed how to use it to use in used car buying. The event is not to be construed as a used car sale, Mr. Gaines declared. "It is exactly what it is called. 'Used Car Buyers' School.' We have, like all Buick dealers, that we have established a reputation for fair dealing in used cars and that buyers chase from us with confidence. Our 'Used Car School'. However, it is our intention to show the prospective buyer how he may buy used cars with absolute safety, disregarding a car's reputation and relying solely on his own judgment.

Heretofore it has been necessary for the prospective buyer to be a mechanic before he could really tell car values. Our used car yardstick changes the picture. It enables him to absolutely eliminate guesswork and know exactly what he is getting. There is no trick to it. The yardstick may be used to determine the value of any used car, regardless of make, and regardless of whom offers the car for sale.

We invite everyone to visit during this 'school'. There will be long drawn out lectures—no high pressure selling—we will simply present the 'yardstick', explain its use, show our cars, giving everyone opportunity to use the yardstick on our used cars. Regardless of whether you are in the market for a car, get a 'yardstick' and use it when you are ready to buy."

FOR THE BEEKEEPER.

The Huajilla Honey is now partly off the hives, and where not, it is being mixed with the summer honey, and consequently it is of a darker grade but yet of very good flavor.

Owing to the disorganized condition of the Beekeepers, we get less for our best honey this year than ever before. In most cases it sold at 2 to 4 cents better than Louisiana Cane Syrup, but, honey has many times the food value of cane syrup, and ten times the food value of corn syrup. So much for the disorganized beekeepers.

The Nueces Valley Beekeepers Association has now called a meeting to be held September 2 and 3, at 10 A. M. sharp at the Plaza Hotel San Antonio, Texas, to discuss plans for Co-Operative Honey Marketing Association. Will you organize?

The Kellogg Food Co. is mailing out free to beekeepers, who ask for it, delicious recipes for cereals with honey that can help the beekeepers to create a demand for their honey. The best honey is produced in West Texas.

The writer expects to see every beekeeper with some exhibits of honey, wax, bees, etc., at our County Fair November 9, 10 and 11. Let the world know what we produce in West Texas.

On a recent tour of investigation to the mountain section of Medina County, I saw the Shumac in bloom, but not very profusely, owing perhaps to the drought at present reigning up there. Oak-balls that often yield some juice for the bees to work on do not seem to be forming this year, yet a series of heavy rains may cause them yet to come on.

The Kin-nick-kin-nick brush has not yet bloomed, and since I lived in Texas 61 years before I was introduced to the kin-nick-kin-nick I can do no forecasting as to a probable winter feed for bees from that source.

The best, to my idea, is to leave the bees alone unless by chance they should get low on stored up honey; then of course, they would have to be given some sealed honey from some prosperous colony of bees.

A Hungarian who had just come from the old country saw bees busily going in and out under a farm box-hive and thought to himself he would investigate what they were doing in that box. After tilting the box only a second he made a hasty retreat, yet he says he now knows that those bees were manufacturing 20,000 tons of chained lightning.

In the early part of the past season 6 10lb pails for honey, including the shipping case, were sold for .83 cents in any quantity from one case up. After the competitor was out of the way the same package of cans jumped up to $1.05 in lots of 1 to 50 cases and extracted white Huajilla Honey was sold at wholesale at 6 cents in

FARM LOANS

The Hondo National Farm Loan Association, H. E. Haass, Sec.-Treas., Hondo, Texas, representing 260 borrowers with $1,025,280.00 borrowed, is prepared to make farm loans anywhere in Medina County under the Federal Farm Loan Act at 5 per cent interest and 1 per cent 36 year amortization repayment plan. Sixty-two thousand Texas farmers have taken advantage of this system of borrowing over one hundred eighty-one million dollars. Why not you? Former restrictions have been taken off and you may borrow for any purpose provided for in the Act, as a farmer only.

If you should lift the body of every car in Buick's field — and compare the chassis — then you too would choose

The New BUICK

If you were to lift the body from the chassis of any one of a hundred cars—and compare the vital important details of chassis design and construction—you would find Buick so outstandingly superior in all phases of fine car engineering that you would almost inevitably make Buick your choice. Here is what you would see in this famous chassis:

Buick's great new Valve-in-Head engine—developing 99 horsepower in the 124- and 132-inch models, and 80½ horsepower in the 118-inch models. Unapproached in sturdiness, all-round performance—ability, reliability and economy as well.

Buick's new Controlled Servo Enclosed Mechanical Brakes—providing smooth, positive, silent braking, with minimum pedal pressure. And—because fully protected against dust, dirt and water—operating at maximum efficiency in any weather.

Buick's new frictionless steering gear and new Road Shock Eliminator—twin advancements introduced by Buick. The Buick wheel offering effortless control throughout its entire turning range—and the new Road Shock Eliminator assuring complete freedom from annoying jolts and jars.

Buick's new, longer rear springs, and new Lovejoy Duodraulic Shock Absorbers—front and rear. Combining to check both bound and rebound, and providing a degree of riding ease without parallel anywhere.

And, finally, such established Buick superiorities as the famous double-drop frame of toughest steel . . . the massive side and cross members reinforced at points of stress to insure greatest long life . . . the celebrated torque tube drive, Buick multiple-disc clutch, self-lubricating differential, and numerous other features.

When the list of Buick's chassis features—entirely aside from the irresistible appeal of Buick's new Fisher Bodies—reads like a roll-call of all that is soundest and best in fine car engineering . . . and when, in addition, you can buy a Buick for as little as $1225, f. o. b. factory . . . what wonder that all comparisons lead to Buick! What wonder that more than 2,000,000 people have invested their money in Buicks—and that from two to five times as many are purchasing this new Buick as any other automobile priced above $1200!

Druggist—"I don't know, sir. Can you tell me what ails the fleas?"

There are several kinds of lice that attack poultry, but fortunately they can all be controlled by sodium fluoride. One pound of this powder will treat 100 hens at a cost of about 40 cents, and 1 or 2 applications a year will keep the birds free from the pests, if their houses are kept clean. At this time of year, it is best to use the "pinch" method of applying the material; that is, apply pinches of the powder over the various parts of the fowl.

BACK FROM LONG TRIP.

Mr. M. S. Koch and family returned home Tuesday evening after an absence of five weeks.

Mrs. Koch accompanied by her daughter, Miss Clara, visited with her sons at Ingleside and Beeville, while Mr. Koch in company with his daughter and son-in-law, J. H. Moore, visited the latter's old home in West Virginia.

Mr. Koch reports a very interesting trip, having visited the States of Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia, District of Columbia and Pennsylvania and numerous interesting points therein. Among those worthy of mention were Mt. Vernon, home of Washington; Arlington Cemetery; Old Kentucky Home; Lincoln's birthplace; Mammoth Cave; and the Hermitage, home of Andrew Jackson. He also visited in Washington, D. C., for several days, seeing the interesting points there.

Mr. Koch states that he has never seen such a wonderful country or such enormous crops, cotton 1½ and 2 bales to the acre, thru Arkansas and W. Tennessee. Corn 75 to 100 bushels to the acre in Ohio and W. Va. Tobacco fields in Kentucky. Apple orchards and other fruits thru Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania. A peach orchard in Arkansas thru which they drove for five hours. A corn field in the Tennessee river valley of 35,000 acres under one fence. He states that he saw an island in the Ohio river with 42 acres in cultivation that produced 30,000 bushels of potatoes. Sounds unbelievable but nevertheless true. Also that he enjoyed going into the garden of his son-in-law's old home and gathering tomatoes that weighed 1½ pounds each, and cabbage heads weighing 15 to 20 pounds.

Taking everything into consideration Mr. Koch states that this trip was one of the most interesting events of his life.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Richard Reilly entertained the Junior Bridge Club and a number of guests with a Mexican luncheon of charming appointments on Thursday of last week at her home. The living rooms were decorated with carona regina. The guests found place cards of senoritas, which served later as bridge tallies, at two beautifully arranged tables in the dining room. The centers of the tables held golden cosmos in pink bowls, flanked by pink burning tapers in pink holders. Mexican music during the luncheon and the bridge games that followed added pleasingly to the occasion. The guests were: Mesdames Barnitz Carle, Marvin Beal, Ed. Cameron, L. E. Kollman, Thomas Knopp, Elmer Leinweber, Henry Merriman, Eugene Mo-field, Charles Monkhouse, Alf. Rath, Russell Speece and Miss Fanny Carle.

THURSDAY BRIDGE CLUB.

The members of the Thursday Bridge Club were delightfully entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Finger. Noonan were awarded prizes for high scores and Mrs. Starnes and Mr. O. H. Miller prizes for low scores.

THE FAITH MAN HAS
IN THE INTEGRITY OF HIS FELLOWMAN

YOUR MOST VALUABLE ASSET.

There are two extremes and a medium to the credit situation. There is the case of the man who stretches the faith of his business connections to the straining point and often beyond. There is the man who clings solidly to the tradition of his forefathers and will owe no man. And then there is the intelligent and wise business man who makes an intelligent use of the credit facilities extended under the modern conditions.

It is a common expression in the business world that a good business man is never out of debt. Actually what this expression intends to imply is that a good business man is continually making use of his credit. Not only is he making use of it, but he is doing it in a sane and foresighted way. He does not try the confidence of his creditors to the last ounce of endurance; but by REGULAR AND ADEQUATE PAYMENTS of his indebtedness, builds up the structure of his reputation upon which his business security rests. Just as he builds his business step by step, so he builds his credit.

There is only one way for a man to use his credit intelligently. That is BY LIVING UP TO THE SPIRIT WHICH PROMPTED THE EXTENSION OF HIS FIRST CREDIT. It was a convenience and an investment at the same time. It was a convenience for the man who accepted credit; it was an investment in the reliability of that man by the one who extended it.

There is a serious pitfall along the credit road. People fall into it when they fail to appreciate the situation of the man that extends credit.

Consider seriously these facts when making obligations, and when they become due.

SOME MISTAKES TO AVOID.

By Mrs. L. E. Armour.

In the school of experience the mistakes which we and our friends make, teach us some valuable lessons.

Five years ago we put out a new peach orchard creaming of many extra dollars from that source in a few years. We sprayed them one time, then for two years we could not get to them at the right time. Now the trees have about all gone the Scale route and we can see that it would have paid us to have hired spraying done.

Disposing of our "pine rosters" we invested in a pair of pure-bred hogs. We failed to provide a house for the sow so she made a bed in the pasture woods and crushed a but one of her pigs to death.

Since then we have been more careful and in the last two litters of pigs (twenty-four) not one was injured.

My son failed to separate the mare from other stock at foaling time. She brought twin mule colts which were killed by a mule before he discovered them.

I once bought a flock of turkeys among which sorehead developed in a severe form, within a few days. The next year after thoroughly cleaning, but not disinfecting the house where I had confined the sick turkeys, I placed my little chicks in it. They too, had sorehead.

A farmer had a pretty bunch of pigs. To allow them to run in and out of the main lot, he made a small opening in the fence. Of course the pigs grew larger, but he did not enlarge the passage-way. As a result they were bruised so often in squeezing through such a tight place that hard lumps on their shoulders and deformity of one through strain upon its back, resulted. One market refused to buy the pork which finally was sold elsewhere at a loss.

One large bed of sweet potato seed proved a total loss to us because we bedded them on a bed too low and loose. Heavy rains kept the bed wet for so long the potatoes soured and thus we lost time, seed and money because we had to buy slips.

In selling timber I failed to have a written contract. The mill man cut the best of it, sold out his business and as he bought by the thousand feet, he did not pay for the standing timber and no one likes to buy timber that has been culled over.

A friend of mine who raises fine chickens used Paris Green solution to poison potato beetles.

The solution which was left over was carelessly poured on the ground. Chickens drank of it and died.

Another friend stored left-over

Will Rogers Is Big Hit In "They Had To See Paris"

Will Rogers in "They Had To See Paris," all talking Fox Movie-tone comedy drama

Will Rogers sings "barytone" and how!

Rogers' voice was discovered by accident, and now he sings for the first time in the Wm. Fox Movie-tone special attraction, "They Had To See Paris."

While the vivacious Fifi Dorsay was rehearsing the song, "I Could Do It For You," which she sings to Rogers in two screaming comedy sequences of this sparkling comedy drama, the celebrated wit, joined her in the chorus.

"They Had To See Paris" is the screen fare for the Greater Majestic's "Blue Ribbon Show" which will open next Saturday in San Antonio's most pretentious theatre. On the same program is a stage show of rare merit. Natacha Natova, the international star of the dance, headlines this stage show, with her company of wonderful dancers, including Nicholas Daks, and others. Loretta and Eddie King, Jack George, Yale and Princeton, Jane Green and the Zellars are other acts on this all star stage performance.

paint in an open shed. Their fine cow tasted that and died.

My grandfather lost a valuable cow which ate Paris Green stored in a shed. Poisons should be kept in containers with in-fitting lids and kept where children can not get to them. When they are stored in other receptacles, rats or wind are likely to upset them.

I do not know if all are, but some commercial fertilizers are poisonous. Two farmers lost mules which ate of Nitrate of Soda and we lost a calf which was sheltered in the same shed in which fertilizer was stored.

A neighbor kept a bottle of carbolic acid in her cupboard. Her little son pulled a chair to the cupboard so as to be able to reach something to eat. Curiosity prompted him to taste the contents of the bottle. A telephone in the house made it possible for a physician to prescribe emergency treatment until he could get there. Fortunately the child recovered after a long siege of suffering.

A beautiful child opened and tested the contents of a tin box left within its reach.

The contents proved to be lye. That was several years ago but the last account I had of the case, she was still in the hospital with her stomach badly lye-eaten and some artificial form of giving nourishment being employed.

Such things should never be left within reach of children and because adults too, make mistakes some times, it is necessary to label all poisons if we keep on the safe side. Red lettering of bottle labels will enable us to detect poisons at a glance.

LOW TAXES ENCOURAGE INDUSTRIAL GROWTH.

The power to tax is of tremendous importance, either for good or evil. Fair taxation by efficient and economical governmental units, can provide all necessary community improvements, assist the homebuilder and aid industrial development.

Burdensome taxation, the result of governmental waste, duplication of effort and political inefficiency, can permanently retard any community's progress.

We live in an age when smaller communities, with their pleasant living conditions steady labor and other natural advantages, are attractive to industry.

The widespread dissemination of power has made industrial decentralization practical. Factories no longer confine their operations to the great centers of population. But no industry can afford to locate in a town where the tax rate is exorbitant. High taxes are a menace to any business.

Communities would do well to avoid excessive bonded indebtedness which means permanent tax overhead. Every citizen should make it a duty to see that local and state governments are conducted wisely and economically. Progress goes hand in hand with a low tax rate.—Selected.

SALES OF SARGON TOTAL MILLIONS; SET RECORDS.

If you were told that literally thousands of well known men and women had stated publicly that a single medicine had relieved them of health troubles after all other medicines and treatments had apparently failed—it would sound impossible, wouldn't it. Yes, that is Sargon's wonderful record.

So great has become the demand for Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills that the Sargon Laboratory has been forced to increase its capacity from 8,000 to 45,000 bottles daily.

"Phenomenal and bewildering," is the way one of the big drug jobbers of the country describes the marvelous demand.

One big New York firm, with wholesale branches in leading cities, is selling at the rate of more than one million bottles a year—or to be exact, 908,194 bottles in the past eight months.

Introduced in California in April of this year, the people of this State alone are now using it at the rate of one bottle for every family in the State; and so it is everywhere.

Why this enormous and ever-increasing demand for Sargon?

The answer is this:

Sargon is a new kind of medicine. It is different from any other medicine you have ever taken because it is based on new and remarkable discoveries in the field of modern medicine which have completely overturned many old moss-grown theories we have known for a life-time.

That is why people everywhere are looking on Sargon as the one great outstanding health-giving remedy of the age. No wonder it is called the medicine with a million friends.

SALADS AND SUMMER DESSERTS.

By Betty Barclay.

American housewives are becoming more and more enthused over French cooking, and dishes once enjoyed only in hotels or clubs in which some famous Parisian chef reigned supreme are now appearing on the tables of our thrifty but novelty appreciating American women. Oh, we shall always have our ice cream, our waffles, or Chicken a la Maryland, our griddle cakes and apple syrup, and dozens of other popular American delicacies that cannot be surpassed—but we are now beginning to add other dishes equally appetizing, and often more easily prepared and more economical than some of our old favorites. The French housewife is thrifty; she seldom uses out-of-season delicacies she makes use of left-overs; and she has learned the secret of flavor. She has learned that salads should be served when the ingredients are fresh and crisp; that cold, beautiful desserts fit into summertime snugly as a French habit fits a Parisian model; and that a little vinegar in the dressing or added to the vegetable ingredients of a salad while cooking, accentuates the flavors. Try one or all of these French dishes. You will find them among the most popular dishes on your table this summer.

Frozen Tomato Salad

Peel and cut into fairly small pieces two cups of ripe tomatoes. Add 1/2 cup of sugar, two peppercorns, two teaspoons sugar, one teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon celery salt, one onion, a few grains of parsley, and two tablespoons vinegar. Boil ten minutes, then press through sieve. Freeze to a mush. Beat a cup of cream until stiff and add the mush. Then complete freezing. Serve a crisp, thoroughly dried piece leaves with mayonnaise dressing.

Vegetable Salad Melange

Cook one cup of shredded string beans until tender in boiling water, with one-half teaspoon of salt. Drain and mix the peas and beans with one cup of shredded cucumber and one-half cup of thinly sliced radishes. Add French dressing and let stand a half hour. Meanwhile, hardboil six eggs, halve them, and cut off the ends so they stand upright. Arrange the slices of the eggs on salad plates. Arrange crisp lettuce leaves around the egg half, and place some of the vegetable mixture on the leaves. Dress very cold with mayonnaise.

French Caramel Custard

Four eggs, six tablespoons sugar, one cup milk and a little water, make a cold, tasteful dessert. Separate the egg-whites and yolks, and beat the whites until they are firm. Add four tablespoons of sugar to the yolks. Combine the whites and yolks, add the milk, stirring the mixture slowly. Make a caramel, using four tablespoons sugar and one-half water. Pour this into a tin mold and then add the custard. Place the mold in a pan of water and bake in a slow oven for twenty-five minutes, until a knife blade will come out clean. When the custard is cold, turn out on a platter and serve it with a sauce.

DIRECT POSTURE IN SITTING.

By Mrs. Irvin Pickle.

Many people know how to sit correctly or knowing how, just do not know of the important effect the manner of sitting has on the form and health of the body. We see so many women, who by the time they are past thirty-five begin to spread below the waist line and finally all that symmetry of figure which a little attention to posture in their younger days would have enabled them to retain.

Women try by various exercises to reduce this superfluous flesh. Roll on the floor, standing for thirty minutes after each meal, are some of the things practiced to regain the slender siph-like figure of younger years. These practices are very good, but "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

One will form the habit of sitting correctly it will be just as easily as to loll in the chair on the floor of the back, with curved shoulders and depressed diaphragm pushing all the internal organs out of their natural position. The head sagging forward, pulling the muscles at the back of the neck until finally a lump accumulates there.

You would avoid all these disfigurements and have strong, well sloped lungs, sit well back in the chair until the small of the back is against the back of the chair. In this position the spine is easily comfortably supported, the head is thrown forward and the shoulders, back, giving the lungs and other internal organs plenty of room to expand naturally. If girls who work in offices where they are forced to sit for several hours at a time would give more attention to their manner of sitting, they would not become so tired, as there would be no undue strain on the muscles, and best of all, they would have stronger, healthier, better proportioned bodies.

Bad flavors and odors in milk are frequently caused by succulent feed. When fed to dairy cows one or two days before milking, silage made of corn, alfalfa, sweet clover, or beans; and green alfalfa, cabbage, turnips, rape, and kale seriously affect the flavor and odor of milk. It is affected only slightly by green rye, green cowpeas, potatoes, green pulp, or carrots. Green beans, pumpkins, and sugar beets practically no effect on the flavor and odor of milk.

It is far easier to know men than to know man.—La Rochefoucauld.

FARM GRAIN STORAGE A RELIEF FOR MARKETING ILLS.

By W. G. Kaiser, Agricultural Engineer.

A mile-long row of trucks waited at the siding. They were loaded with wheat, rushed from the field to the market. The line lengthened. Already terminal elevators were filled to overflowing. Box cars jammed the siding. But there were not enough cars. The wheat could not be moved away fast enough. The market was temporarily glutted. Back in the field the combines and their crews labored. The harvest could not be halted now. The grain was ripe. But where to put it? The trucks must be unloaded. And they were—on the ground.

The scene is typical of many communities throughout the grain belts of America. It has been repeated the last four or five harvests. There seemed little the farmer could do but grin and bear it. But was there?

I remember Duffy's complaint two years ago. He has been hard hit. Ten thousand bushels of wheat on the ground. No place else to put it. The market was satiated. Terminals were filled. The stuff couldn't be moved. Besides, there was the usual car shortage. That year he took his loss. Grumbled about it but got busy.

When I was on his place again the next year things were different. He'd built himself two concrete storage units of four tanks each. While the scene of the year before was being repeated at the siding his wheat was going into these tanks. He held it. Waited until the market was right, and marketed on the protein value of his crop.

Adequate grain storage facilities on the farm and at the shipping point as well as the terminal are a fundamental necessity in any successful system of marketing grain. While mammoth elevators dot the grain terminals, largely because of the grower's failure to provide adequate storage on his farm, they are at best sadly inadequate and incapable of handling the nation's grain crop in the sudden rush to market. The remedy of this marketing ill is not in larger terminal elevators but in adequate farm storage.

The grain farmer who can store his crop or a part of it on the farm avoids the necessity of disposing of it, usually on a gorged market, as soon as it is threshed and harvested. He can market his crop according to its protein value and not at a temporarily deflated price.

The combine in meeting one farm ill has created another. Grain cannot be rushed from the spout of the threshing machine to the market with any system of order or profit. Without additional farm storage no successful system of co-operative marketing, orderly marketing or farm relief measures can be properly developed. The present plan of overloading elevators and railroad facilities is decidedly unsatisfactory. The grain grower cannot expect to pile his crop on the ground and then secure a satisfactory return. Storage on the farm is necessary if he is to secure efficient returns on his crop.

As H. M. Bainer, director, Southwestern Wheat Improvement Association, has summarized:

"Adequate farm storage will help stabilize the wheat growing industry. It will assist in establishing a system of more orderly marketing. It will make it possible for the country elevators to handle wheat in a satisfactory way. It will help solve the car shortage problem."

"It will make it unnecessary to dump wheat on the ground. It will tend to prevent congestion of the July-August market, and thus to stabilize prices."

"It will spread the farmer's labor income and marketing period over a greater length of time."

"It will assist in getting the grain away from the combine or thresher more quickly and make it possible for the grower to harvest and market his crop with less labor."

"It will make the grain grower more independent and will enable him to use his own judgment in handling and selling his crop."

"Above all, additional storage will provide a splendid opportunity to dispose of the crop at such prices as its protein content and other quality will justify."

Not all farmers grow enough grain to justify the building of granaries or elevators on the farm. It is generally recognized, however, that wherever a farmer or a group of farmers grow a large enough acreage to justify the use of a combine, they can afford adequate storage facilities on the farm.

Construction of the small elevator for individual or group use has its problems. It is evident that many of the advantages obtained by the use of concrete in grain storage structures may also be obtained by a similar practice of construction in the smaller types. The obvious advantages are fireproofness and freedom from grain rot and the ravages of rodents and weevils. This type of construction is, moreover, permanent. Speed of construction, low building cost, low maintenance cost and adaptability to expansion further mark the concrete storage unit as economical.

Fire safety alone is sufficient warrant of concrete construction even though the other elements were not present. A large percentage of the annual loss of food and foodstuffs is caused by fire, and normal fire conditions are further aggravated in the case of the grain storage house by the presence of explosive and inflammable dust. The fire resistant qualities of concrete give this type of elevator a preferred insurance rating for the life of the building, which is an item of saving worth remembering.

Rot, the ravages of rodents and insects are additional factors which cut into the annual grain supply in no inconsiderable proportions. It is the reaction of this loss that has led to concrete construction in every large grain elevator and storage unit erected in America since 1910.

It is estimated that a farm elevator with a capacity of 2,400 bushels could be built of concrete at a cost of from $1,000 to $1,500. Such a structure would be permanent and require a minimum of maintenance and at the same time afford the best possible storage facilities. It would include mechanical equipment for elevating the grain from a pit into the different tanks or bins and from the bins into a truck or wagon. It would include a battery of four tanks, each holding 800 bushels of grain, with one kept empty for use in reconditioning grain that happened to be damp.

While it is entirely possible for the farmer to build such a structure himself it would seem more advisable to make use of the experience and service of a competent contractor.

"GOOD FARMING" HELPS CONTROL INSECT PESTS.

Repeatedly agricultural scientists have observed that methods which are included in "good farming" have effects that are good in ways other than were originally intended. In many regions of the South, for example, it has long been recognized that late fall and winter plowing are desirable practices. Winter-plowed fields retain a good supply of moisture, the spring work is speeded, the farmer can work the winter-plowed land earlier in the spring, and can plant his crops more nearly when they should be planted. These considerations have been enough to induce the more progressive and intelligent farmer to adopt the practice of fall plowing.

As an added benefit, it now appears, according to entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture, that late fall and winter plowing is one of the best methods of controlling injury to cotton by the cotton bollworm, the same insect that is known in other parts of the country as the corn-ear worm, the tomato fruit worm, and the false budworm of tobacco.

This insect, in sections of Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Missouri, and Alabama, where it is most destructive as a cotton pest, winters as a pupa in a cell it forms in the earth from 4 to 6 inches below the surface. In this cell it is secure so long as it is undisturbed. But if plowing is delayed until the pupa has formed its cell, the disturbance of the soil will expose the chrysalis to cold and moisture and will result in the death of practically all the overwintering worms. Where the worm is a pest the "good farmers" who plow in the fall will have an advantage over those who rely on spring plowing. It is also probable that the information which the Department of Agriculture broadcasts as to the benefits of winter plowing may move many victims of bollworm depredations to plow in the fall to reduce the crop destruction by the worms, and these farmers will benefit from the improved condition and moisture content of their soil.

Other "good farming" practices reduce injury from both the bollworm and the boll weevil are recommended by Department of Agriculture entomologists. F. C. Bishop, says "It is important that seed of early maturing cotton be selected; that the crop be planted as early as is consistent with getting a good stand and having the crop start off well; and that poor lands be fertilized and cultivation be thorough and frequent."
